Dear Prospective Registrant:

Greater Dallas Asian American Chamber of Commerce (GDAACC), in partnership with the National Council of Asian American Business Associations (NCAABA) would like to invite you to the 2010 NCAABA Supplier Academy. The Academy will be held on August 9-10, 2010 at the University of Texas at Dallas, School of Management.

The NCAABA Supplier Academy provides the Asian and minority business communities with critical training that enhances supplier development and improves the success of our community in securing corporate and public sector contracts. By hosting and presenting this Academy, GDAACC will continue to provide invaluable resources and opportunities for minority businesses to enhance their existing resources and augment their growth.

As an entrepreneur, please take advantage of this exclusive opportunity to learn from the world's leading corporations and business leaders on how to expand your corporate and government business and gain a competitive advantage in the national and global marketplaces.

Fifty applicants will be chosen by a pre-selection committee to attend the Academy. Applicants will receive notification of admittance on the week of July 27th. The Pre-Selection Committee will judge applicants based on criteria including: status as a minority or woman-owned firm, capacity to bid on corporate contracts, previous experience as 1st or 2nd tier supplier, geographic footprint, operational and organizational development, management, and demonstrated leadership in community. Extra points will be given to suppliers that are also members of NCAABA's Strategic Alliance Partner organizations.

Enclosed are the registration application and proposed curriculum for your consideration.

For questions, please visit our website or contact Hoyoung Kim, Director of Economic Development at (972)241-8250 or for email: hoyoung@gdaacc.com.

Thank you for your time and consideration. We look forward to your participation.

Sincerely,

Gal Jumaos
Executive Director
